October is the month of Harvest, of Thanksgiving and Halloween. This is the time of year when I start to think of pie: apple pie at Thanksgiving and pumpkin pie on Halloween. In weighing the merits of pie as a healthy component in my diet, it occurred to me that the stereotypical use of these two fruits is quite different.

I suspect that many of the pumpkins purchased from our neighbourhood grocery stores later this month will not end up as food. We will hollow them out, carefully carve a scary image and set them outside for one evening. Early in the morning, on compost collection day during the week after Halloween, there is pumpkin — looking dry, wrinkled and quite unappetizing — waiting at the end of many driveways.

The apple does not suffer such a fate. The flesh of the apple is usually eaten, often after being carefully peeled and lovingly placed in a nice flaky pie crust to be baked.

It occurred to me that the music we play, especially in the grind of weekly preparation for the next worship service, is often treated more like a pumpkin than an apple. In the pressure to get the music ready we often worry only about the outer layer of the music without concern for what is inside. Many pieces I have quickly learned have suffered a fate similar to the pumpkin: set aside very quickly and left to compost.

I think the listener can tell if what I am playing is like the pumpkin — an empty shell, used only for short term effect, soon to be tossed aside. I know that when the music I play has been prepared like the apple — when the inner depths of the music have been carefully considered, down to the core (!) during a relaxed, thoughtful and loving time of preparation — that the performance has much deeper meaning.

Let's try to treat our music more like the apple and prepare all aspects of what we play, not just the outer shell. But life is often busy. So when there just is no time to prepare an apple pie, let us at least treat our performance as well as we treat the pumpkin on Halloween night: include in the hollowed out shell of your quickly prepared music the light from a little candle burning brightly. Perhaps then the music can then be a "hallowed" out shell!

Happy Thanksgiving and have a safe Halloween.

Note that I was tempted to include the onion in this metaphorical, and hopefully fruitful (!) exploration of musical preparation. I wanted to mention the many layers of musical meaning found beneath the outer surface. But I couldn't find a simple way to work it into either Thanksgiving or Halloween! (sigh)

Educational Event

Now that Casavant have completely rebuilt their organ in St. Patrick's Basilica, the plan is for it to be re-opened with a recital on Saturday November 22. Jacquelin Rochette, the Artistic Director of Casavant Frères, has kindly said that when he is here for that weekend, he would be happy to show the workings of the organ to our Ottawa organ students (and maybe a few others). Although the timing for this educational event is not yet known, please stay tuned! - further details will be forthcoming.

Pro Organo

The new PRO ORGANO season got off to an excellent start with the opening concert held at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, September 26th, at Rideau Park United Church.

The concert featured our own organist Karen Holmes with Damian Rivers-Moore who has played with a number of Canadian orchestras, and is currently a member of the Thunder Bay Symphony Orchestra. Further details coming up in next month's issue.

Field Trip to Montreal and the CIOC

BLAKE HARGREAVES

The Canadian International Organ Competition in Montreal is a highlight in its own right, featuring many accomplished students playing some of the finest instruments in the city. We will be offering a field trip from Ottawa on Saturday, October 18th, to sample these delights. The bus will depart the St-Laurent Shopping Centre at 9:30 am, returning at approximately midnight. Cost to be determined based on interest -- Call Blake Hargreaves at 613-255-1394 for details and to reserve your spot.

Activities planned for the day include:

12pm HIDDEN GEMS: IN RECITAL
- JAMES DAVID CHRISTIE.
Immaculée-Conception Church

James David Christie, utmost performer of the early music repertoire, explores works by composers that have preceded Bach: Buxtehude as well as more obscure composers such as Schneidemann, Böhm and J.C. Bach. This one-hour concert is a must for all J.S. Bach aficionados and will celebrate M. Christie's sumptuous touch at the organ.

On the program: Prelude in A minor, BuxWV 158 by Buxtehude, works by Boçhm, Scheidemann and J.C. Bach. Reserve today: $20. Price at the door: $25 http://www.ciocm.org/event-display?event\_id=21

1:30 to 3:30 pm Philip Crozier, organist at St. James United will offer us a guided tour of their refurbished instrument.

Optional concert:

4pm COUCOU! WITH ENRICO ONOFRI, VIOLIN AND HANK KNOX, ORGAN Salle Bourgie

Surrender once again to the masterful playing and ardent direction of violinist Enrico Onofri!

Experience the contagious musical "Italian Invasion" of London! The works of Corelli and his compatriots were all the rage, as was il caro sassone, that dear Saxon, Handel. The charms of the Italian Baroque transpire in delightful concertos, where cuckoos and nightingales on occasion sing, on the organ or the violin.

On the program: Corelli, Handel, Vivaldi Tickets: $20 to 50$

8pm GREAT ORGAN, GREAT CHOIR!
The Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul

A sublime musical moment with the Choir of St. Andrew and St. Paul

Before closing the 2014 Competition during the Gala Concert on October 19, the CIOC will set the church ablaze with the wonderful choir of St Andrew and St Paul. They will be performing the grandiose 'Dona nobis pacem', choral masterpiece by Vaughan Williams.

In the first half of the concert, Christian Lane, CIOC grand prize winner in 2011, will let the organ sing with works by Bach, Widor and Sowerby. He will then be passing the baton during the Gala Concert, crowning the 2014 CIOC Winners the following day.

With : Jonathan Oldengarm, Christian Lane, organ, Choir of St. Andrew and St. Paul, Jordan de Souza directing

On the program: Dona nobis pacem by Vaughan Williams, Bach, Widor, Sowerby, Bossi.

Reservation ahead of time: $20, tickets at the door: $25

Bus back to Ottawa departs from the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul at the end of this concert.

Name These Canadian Organ Composers

This month's issue of Pipelines inaugurates a brand new puzzle feature to stimulate your senses and test your knowledge of all things organ. And there's a prize to win, too. This first challenge is centered on Canadian Organ Composers. Here are the details:

1. This composer of organ has won many international awards. A full-length program on the radio program Pipedreams was devoted to this composer and included a work entitled "Etude Heroique".
2. This composer has studied in both Canada and Europe and has received many awards. Several volumes of this composer's organ works, including Variations on "The Old Hundreth", were published in 2013 by the Royal School of Church Music.
3. The early works of this Canadian composer and Member of the Order of Canada were initially influenced by Willan while his later works became more avant-garde. The over 150 compositions of this composer include "Petite Suite".

BONUS: Two of these three composers were born in the same province. Name that province.

RULES: The winner will be chosen randomly from those submitting the correct answers (including the bonus) and will receive a $20.00 gift certificate to the Leading Note. To enter you must email russell.kimberwick@me.com with your answers BY NOON ON FRIDAY OCT. 10. Please include the word "QUIZ" in the subject line of your email. If no completely correct answers are received, the winner will be chosen randomly from among the most correct answers.

FOR FUN: Enjoy this Word Search based on the composers of the works published in the RCCO Te Deum Laudamus Volumes 1 and 2.

Advertising Policy

1. Any Ottawa Centre member may announce his/her event on the Around Town section of the newsletter free of charge if he/she is the coordinator, conductor, soloist, or organist/accompanist of the event.
2. If a member wishes to place a free announcement in Around Town for an event of another organization he/she is a member of (not covered by Policy 1), the member must make a written request to the RCCO Centre Executive for approval of that one specific event. Approval may be granted on the basis that this extraordinary event would be of specific interest to our members: e.g., church/choral, and/or organ/bells, and/or the encouragement of young organists and pianists.
3. If a non-member wishes to announce an event of his/her organization in Around Town free of charge, he/she must make a written request to the RCCO Centre Executive for approval of that one specific event. Approval may be granted per Policy 2; in most circumstances, however, we would expect the Organization to pay as per the rates set out by the Centre for advertising.
