*O praise ye the Lord! all things that give sound;
Each jubilant chord re-echo around;
Loud organs, His glory forth-tell in deep tone,
And sweet harp the story of what He hath done.*

The joyful hymn O Praise Ye The Lord! (or, alternately, Sing Praise To The Lord) was written by Sir Henry Williams Baker in 1875. It is traditionally sung to the tune Laudate Dominum by Hubert Parry. Sir Henry Baker served most of his life as vicar of Monkland Priory Church in Herefordshire. He composed numerous hymns, many of which were included in Anglican Hymns Ancient and Modern, of which he was the editor from 1860 to 1877.

The entire hymn is a song of praise and thanksgiving to God, and is psalm-like in presentation, in which heaven and earth are invited to join together to sing their jubilant praises. As well, it's of particular note for organists that in the third verse of the hymn, reference is made to "Loud organs, His glory forth-tell in deep tone." Can anyone think of another hymn or hymns where the organ is given mention?

Over one hundred years later, we can still attest to the ways in which music and, more specifically, the use of the organ, has had a significant role in the leading of worship. "Jubilant chords" from the organ have inspired us, ministered to us and comforted us.

Sadly, however, the central role of the church organ is declining. Fewer students are studying organ. One of the reasons is the declining number of persons attending church services. A number of churches with wonderful organs, even in our own city, have closed. As well, a number of churches have reformatted their styles of worship eliminating altogether the organ from worship, hoping to relate and connect to the younger generations.

One of the objectives of RCCO is to create opportunities to introduce the organ to younger children and young people so that they might become interested in learning to play the organ. The OrgelkidsCAN project, which is now up and running, is a splendid new tool available in schools and RCCO Centres across the country for the purpose of introducing young people to the wonders of the organ. RCCO Ottawa Centre hosted its first event at Kanata United Church a few weekends ago. Guided by Josh Zentner-Barrett, a group of very enthusiastic children built a model organ and then were invited into the sanctuary to experience the sounds of the pipes from the church organ.

The purchase of Dominion-Chalmers United Church by Carleton University has been in the news recently. RCCO Ottawa Centre has been asked to partner with the University to ensure that the wonderful, soon to be refurbished organ at the church will continue to be used by the musical community. More information about this will be coming in the next few months. This is a very exciting opportunity for the Centre to be on the ground floor in establishing a relationship between Carleton students and the organ community of the Ottawa area, in the hope of sparking new interest for the organ amongst the students.

It is hoped that our present endeavours will indeed bear fruit by having more of our young people become interested and passionate about learning to play the organ. For they will become our church organists of the future, whom we will rely upon to promote the virtues of "the king" of instruments, the organ.

that you have your 2019 calendar, be sure to mark the two remaining Pro Organo Ottawa concerts for this season: Friday, March 22 and Friday April 26, both at 7:30 p.m., and both by up-and-coming young organists, David Simon and Julie Pinsonneault. The first concert, on March 22nd, will feature David Simon on the organ at St. Barnabas Anglican Church, 70 James Street at Kent. David Simon studied in Toronto before completing a MMus in organ performance at Yale University, where he is now doing doctoral studies with Thomas Murray. Details of his programme and biography are already on our website, www.rcco-ottawa.ca/pro\_organo.html.

The Great Bach Marathon

SONDRA GOLDSMITH PROCTOR

The Great Bach Marathon 3 is coming very soon. On Saturday, May 11, the day before Mother's Day, we will honor all mothers who support their children's learning of instruments - piano and organ. How many hours do they spend with us as we learn the basics of technique and the thrill of actually making music? We will hear the story of Anna Magdalena Bach, the second wife of Johann Sebastian Bach.

How will you be involved? Have you contacted Sondra Goldsmith Proctor to volunteer to perform one of your favorite pieces and/or to welcome our guests or to help in any of the behind the scenes ways? Please email sondragoldsmithproctor@gmail.com or phone 202.841.8712 to volunteer.

We can make a difference in young people's lives by supporting the GBM3 to raise funds for scholarships for young organists.

We gain through giving back. Will you please join us?

Ottawa Kids Show Us that OrgelkidsCAN

RICK ST GERMAIN

Serendipity. The magic of childhood, discovery and adventure. Add to that the thrill of accomplishment and a sense of both delight and wonder. That was just the adults in the room. — the kids had a blast!

All this happened at Kanata United Church (KUC) on Saturday, January 12th when Orgelkids came to town. KUC Organist and Music Director Josh Zentner-Barrett expertly guided the children though the assembly of 100 parts into a fully functioning baby pipe organ. When they were done, he brought them next door to see its grand-daddy and do a comparative study of the parts of the organ.

On hand for this inaugural event were approximately 18 kids, their parents and friends, and a few very special guests. RCCO Executive Director Elizabeth Shannon introduced us to Mr. Reinhard Pees and his family, whose generosity and support funded the entire organ kit on display. Also present was Sheila Laidlaw who taught with Ken Inkster at Banting High School in Alliston, ON — it was Ken Inkster's bequest to the RCCO Educational programs that funded a large portion of the orgelkit acquisition that made this program possible.

OrgelkidsCAN is the RCCO's national outreach program that gives children a hands-on discovery experience building and playing a real pipe organ in a fun and engaging way. Eight Orgelkits, built by Orgues Létourneau, have been distributed to the eight RCCO regions across the country to be made available to schools and community events for a nominal fee. Further information can be found on the program's website at orgelkidscan.ca

If a non-member wishes to announce an event of his/her organization in Around Town free of charge, he/she must make a written request to the RCCO Centre Executive for approval of that one specific event. Approval may be granted per Policy 2; in most circumstances, however, we would expect the Organization to pay as per the rates set out by the Centre for advertising.
